THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Farmer Bankrupt.

J. B. Neff, a farmer of Anaheim, has filed a bankruptcy petition in the United States court. Neff says that he owes the large sum of $21,557.54—principally in unsecured claims—and has lost $200,000 of which is in property exempted by law.

Grand Avenue Sale.

Charles G. Andrews has sold to J. R. Grant, through Wright & Callender, 1037 First on the west side of Grand avenue about midway between Ninth and Tenth streets, with a six-room frame cottage, consideration named $14,250.

Sixth Street Sale.

Mrs. Louise Y. Pratt has purchased of F. O. and A. P. Johnson, through Robert Marsh & Co., 8214 First on the south side of Sixth street, fifty-four feet west of Grand avenue, with a two-story frame apartment building, consideration named $44,000.

That Same Old Pig.

To their intense consternation, Fred Gidd and J. K. Kendall were sentenced to sixty days in jail by Judge Chambers yesterday for violating the liquor license on Winston street, where they have been running a blind pig. They are old offenders.

Sunset Club.

The Sunset Club last night discussed "What Makes Los Angeles Grow." Papers were read by H. S. McKee, H. W. Follett, and William J. Stephens. Railroads and advertising were regarded as the main causes of growth. A dash-light picture of the members was taken after the dinner.

New Street-car Stop.

At Los Angeles Railway cars operating on Spring street and Broadway will stop at Mercantile Place hereafter to take on and discharge passengers. Orders to this effect were issued yesterday, effective today. Cars operating on Broadway will continue to make the City Hall and Chamber of Commerce stops.

Bishop's Appointments.

Bishop Connelley has announced the following appointments of clergy in this vicinity: Rev. P. Stiers, formerly chaplain of St. Catherine's Orphan Asylum, Anaheim, to be rector of Santa Ana parish; Rev. William Longenecker of the Cathedral parish to take the place of Rev. Valentine Cross at San Juan Bautista, the latter being granted leave of absence on account of ill health.

BREVITIES.

The old reliable Sunbeam Art Parlor, formerly located at 236 South Main street, has been removed to 325 South Broadway, and will hereafter be known as the Sunbeam Studio. Beautiful cabinet photos only $1 and $1.50 per dozen. We have no connection with any studio on Main street. Any one using the name Sunbeam Studio is an imitator. Come and see the beautiful Sunbeam Studio, finest in the West. Popular prices, highest grade work.

Shepherd, Jr., J. W. Badger, W. W. Harrison, John Derr, John E. McManus, John Chittenden, Harold A. Richardson, Fred May.

SAN DIEGO.

STEEL PLANT MAN ASSAULTED. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES) SAN DIEGO, March 31.—(Exclusive Dispatch) C. W. French, of Cleveland, O., a promoter of the Pacific Steel Company who is here in connection with the establishment of a steel plant, was assaulted this afternoon in the business section of the city by George Simpson, a boiler maker and severely beaten. Simpson had done some work for French and there was trouble over the payment of the bill of about $200.

Simpson had threatened that if the bill was not paid before a certain date he would proceed to get satisfaction by beating French on sight. He met French this afternoon and proceeded to carry out his threat. Mr. French, who made no offensive effort and offered little defense, was knocked down repeatedly by Simpson until his assailant wearied by his own exertions, quit.

French walked away with a badly bruised and bleeding face, although it is not thought his injuries are necessarily serious.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Caught under the balancing weight of the elevator at the Chadbourne Furniture Company today Herbert Scholl, a clerk had a remarkable escape from death. Standing on the ground floor, Scholl leaned over the railing which surrounds the elevator shaft to look down upon the concrete floorings, when the balancing weight, weighing 2000 pounds, descended upon his neck. The weight slid on and down the shaft in a groove close to the ceiling with little space intervening. Scholl lurches backward causing the ceiling to give way enough to free his head. The weight, however, caught him on the chin cutting a long, deep wound. Had the cut extended to the back of an inch further it would have severed a main artery and Scholl would have bled to death. He was the only man in that section of the building.

LIKELY TO IMPROVE.

Managing Director Clayton of the Spreckels corporation brings word from San Francisco that John D. Spreckels will visit this city and Colorado within a few days for the purpose of ascertaining the feasibility of undertaking several large enterprises. Two engines and a number of flat cars have been secured for the transportation of rock for the repairs on the Colorado trolley. Mr. Spreckels will consider the advisability of further extensions of the street railway system.

THREE GUNS COVERED HIM.

TRIO OF HIGHWAYMEN FIND AN EASY VICTIM.

Crime Supposed to Have Been the Work of Race-track Followers Who Had Lost All Their Money—Robbers Board Freight Train and Escape.

Three young men, believed to be race track touts who were seeking to obtain money with which to leave the city, committed a bold robbery at College and San Fernando streets last night, their victim being Jean Latoro of No. 15215 San Fernando street. Latoro had passed the men but then they did not molest him. They followed him until he was in the dark under the street railway viaduct over the Southern Pacific tracks and then closing in upon him, each of the robbers covered him with a revolver. Two kept him covered while the third searched him securing $4 and a gold nugget.

While the robbery was being committed several men passed along the sidewalk less than the distance across the street from the robbers. The latter warned their victim if he made an outcry and attempted to attract the attention of the passing crowd, they would shoot him. After the men had passed, they proceeded to rob him at their leisure.

Latoro reported the matter to Patrolman McCaulley who made a search through the railroad yards accompanied by the victim, but no trace of the robbers could be found. It is believed they boarded a freight train which left the city a few minutes after the robbery.

Three tallies full of merry boys and girls from the Los Angeles and the Polytechnic High schools, in charge of Mrs. Gertrude Parsons, followed, and rang out with song, while other vehicles carried the people who came to take part in or to witness the exercises.

Up, up, higher, and higher, with the country below spread out like a fair panorama, and the wind-blown top of Arbor Day Hill was reached with the flag-draped speakers stand in the center.

Hon. Will A. Harris, who was to have delivered an address, was not able to be present. J. A. Haskett opened the exercises with a brief talk, in which he said: "It, again, is my good fortune to be able to assist in a way contribute to the successful accomplishment of at least one of the objects of this association."

DANIELS, HE DID WIGGLE.

Former President of Ruined Bank on Stand.

Forced to Admit Ignorance of Cashier's Doings.

Tom Hays Campaigning the While for Daniels.

That noise of something squirming was ex-Congressman M. J. Daniels on the witness stand in the Tom Hays trial yesterday.

Daniels testified in his capacity as former president of the defunct Orange Growers' National Bank of which Hays was cashier. There have been happier moments in his life.

In his keen way, John S. Chapman, Esq., attended to Daniels, attempting to show that during the period of the alleged defalcations Hays was not attending to banking business, but was working up political enthusiasm for Daniels, the candidate, and that the affairs of the bank were in the hands of Capt. Daniels's own son-in-law, Mr. Twogood.

Ex-Congressman Daniels conceded that "Hays done good work for me." The morning had been full with bank charters and minute books and evidence books and papers introduced in evidence. Each introduction did not fail to cause a fight between the lawyers.

"Permit me a suggestion," Dist. Atty. Valentine would say, his suggestion being that the other side was off its base.

"Allow me just a suggestion," Mr. Meeserve would say and point out the other side was talking through its hat.

"I have just a suggestion to make," said Mr. Rogers, and so on each time until all had had a crack at it.

HAYS KEPT NO MINUTES.

About the only thing of interest before Daniels was called was something

WOULD-BE BRIDE KEPT A PRISONER.

MISS ELIZABETH POSEY. 28 years old, fair to look upon and clothed in her right mind—and raiment, is a prisoner in the house of her brother-in-law, Dr. Carroll, of 324 West Sixth street, because she tried to wed the man of her choice.

A. E. Williams, lithographer employed at the Burbank Theater, is the man upon whom Miss Posey has lavished her affections and whose name she would have borne yesterday had not a cruel fate intervened in the persons of Dr. Carroll and his wife, the sister of the would-be bride—who ruthlessly tore the loving couple asunder just at the time they were joyously wedding their way to the altar.

Deprived of his bride on the very threshold of bliss, Williams has instituted legal proceedings and he proposes to show that love can laugh at locksmiths through the medium of habeas corpus proceedings.

GIRL IS PRETTY.
Miss Posey is a petite cashier in the employ of the Broadway Department Store, and as she is pretty and ladylike and furthermore bears the reputation of being as good as she looks, she attracted the attention of young Williams, and while it was not exactly a case of love at first sight, mutual admiration became manifest almost immediately, and for more than a year it has been understood between them.

A smooth-faced young man paced excitedly up and down the front porch and stated that Dr. Carroll and family were passing the evening with friends. The young man denied that he bore the name of West but he admitted he is greatly interested in the case.

"I know all about it," he said, "but I will not tell you my name. It's a shame for that young girl to marry Williams for he's no good. Dr. Carroll and his wife and I simply tried to show her the error of her way and I believe she now sees it. Williams is just trying this habeas corpus business for a bluff."

The champion of Miss Posey refused to reveal her whereabouts, but he admitted that she was being detained against her will. Several of Williams' friends watched the house until a late hour last night but saw no glimpse of the fair prisoner could be gained.

THINKS IT MURDER.

Governor Authorizes a State Reward for the Capture of Mrs. Milburn's Slay.

At the behest of those who have been trying to solve the mystery of the death of Mrs. Nancy J. Milburn, whose body was found in the surf at Ocean Park nearly a month ago, the Governor yesterday announced that the State will pay a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of the woman.

If it be found that she was murdered, this makes the total reward $1250. Mrs. Milburn's relatives having offered $1000. That offer prompted numerous detectives and would-be detectives to set to work on the case, but if they have accomplished anything definite they have not made their findings public.

Various theories have been advanced and numerous clues followed, but the result being that the authorities are not agreed either as to the motive for the crime or the probable identity of the slayer.

UNIVERSITY SPREADS OUT.

Purchase Dean Randall's Home for President's House—Enlargement Begins.

The University of Southern California made an unexpected addition to its holdings yesterday in the purchase of the large residence property of Dean Randall, on the northwest corner of Thirty-fifth street and Wesley avenue. The house is a handsome structure of twelve rooms, and with its spacious lawns is a striking feature at the corner of the block, adjoining the university grounds on the north. It is a most valuable addition to the holdings of the institution and is a fine site for an additional university building, should they ever desire to put it to that use, but at present it will be utilized as a residence for President Howard.

Work on the enlargement of the College of Liberal Arts by the addition of wings to the north and south sides of the present structure will begin at once, the Board of Trustees having definitely decided at its meeting on Wednesday. These additions will be of modern architecture and will be built of brick, at a cost of between $20,000 and $40,000. An imposing tower will be placed on the central section, which is an old portion as it now exists.

When completed the entire structure will partake of mission style of architecture, and will be covered with stucco.

CO. A'S TREE

Pictures of Arbor Day—The speakers, the marchers and the planters.

had kindly unveiled his face for the occasion, with the stately approval of the distant mountains snow-crowned, and with snow banners flung abroad for this long-deferred but most successful Arbor Day.

In one sense it might have been called a great memorial day, for nearly three hundred special trees were planted in honor of this person of note, and that person of happy memory, in honor of the living and of the dead, of organizations, patriotic societies and people.

Along the beautiful winding way that leads up to the high Arbor Day Hill, Park Superintendent Morley's force had planted pines and pepper trees, 200 of them, all ready to greet the hundreds of people who drove and who walked up the hill to help in the great tree-planting of the afternoon.

At 2 o'clock the procession moved from the Fremont Gate of the park.

THE PARADE.
In the lead was the Blanchard-Shoneman Band, wailing the echoes with patriotic airs, and followed by the National Guard under Maj. Truman Cole, acting as escort for the Grand Army Veterans. Next came the Naval Reserve, under Lieut. Woodbine. The tallies then fell into line. First came a tallies drawn by six white horses, with nodding plumes above their heads. In this was seated His Honor, Mayor McAleer, and Mrs.

solves that as soon as the time seemed propitious they would get married.

They agreed that they could afford to face the world together, and on Thursday Williams took out the necessary marriage license. It was arranged that the wedding should be solemnized between 12 and 1 o'clock Friday. Neither of the young people had any superstitious dread of the day, but in the light of later events they have doubts.

RELATIVES INTERVENE.

At the Burbank Theater Williams confided his plans to a few intimate friends. William D. T. Courtland, advertising agent for the house, and his wife were invited to act as groomsmen and bridesmaids. This because the sister and brother-in-law with whom Miss Posey lived had never viewed the advances of Williams in a favorable light.

Dr. Carroll, the brother-in-law, pre-empted his name with the medical title, though he is not licensed to practice in this State. He carries on business in the West Sixth-street house in conjunction with "Dr." Hamell and Dr. West.

This last-named gentleman had figured in the list of eligibles for the hand of Miss Posey, which had been prepared by Dr. Carroll and his wife.

Williams made an appointment to meet his affianced bride outside the Broadway Department Store and she joined him shortly after the noon hour. Light-hearted and gay, the young couple hurried in the direction of the church at the corner of Hill and Sixth streets, where they expected to be joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by Dr. Day.

Very quickly, however, they became aware of the fact that Carroll and his wife were trailing them. Rapidly the pursuers gained on the young couple until they overtook them on Hill street. Then a short and animated conversation occurred.

SHE KNEW HER MIND.

Mrs. Carroll told her sister that she must decide at once whether she should choose her relatives or Williams.

That was an easy question for a young girl on her way to the altar. "I shall certainly choose him," she young woman cried with flashing eyes. "Stand aside and let us pass," continued Miss Posey, as she grabbed her sweetheart's arm and swept down the street.

The Carrolls were so nonplussed that they allowed Miss Posey and Williams to get half a block ahead before they determined upon a further plan of action. Then they hurried after the young couple and overtook them once more near Fifth street.

Carroll did not stop to bandy words, but unceremoniously grabbed his sister-in-law by the arm and yanked her into a stairway. Williams started to rescue his inamorata, but as he is not a heavyweight champion and Carroll dropped chilling remarks about filling somebody full of lead if an effort was made by anyone to follow the trio, Williams was forced to submit while the door was slammed in his face, leaving him outside in a cold, cheerless world.

In the church across the way Dr. Day was waiting to tie the nuptial knot and Courtland and his wife were ready to affix their signatures to the marriage certificate. But the wedding bells did not peal forth.

WILL TRY THE LAW.
Temporarily cheated out of his bride, Williams sought solace in another direction. He went to see a lawyer and in an hour habeas corpus proceedings were begun that will bring Carroll and

In the testimony of G. Rouse, a director of the broken Orange Growers' Bank. He showed that Hays had not kept any minutes from the bank from March 23, 1902, until July, 1902.

The bank directors did not know this fact until the start of this trial.

There were many directors' meetings during this period, including the one of March 23, 1902, at which it was decided to change the bank from a State to a national.

Mr. Rouse was asked if he never filed on Hays to read his minutes of the previous meeting.

"Oh, yes," he said.

"What did he read the minutes from on those occasions?"

"Apparently from the minute book," witness thought Hays might have read the minutes from at any rate, at any rate the minute book was not kept up.

The first thing in the afternoon, the court built summonses Capt. Daniels, a long-bearded thin man. He came hesitating. There was small enthusiasm in his heart for his job.

"What is your business?" asked the District Attorney.

"I was in the banking business," said the witness ruefully, with the accent on the "was."

He began explaining about the bank charter and the papers used in connection with the change of the bank from State to national. He kept saying that each one "was" duly attested by the proper officers.

"See here," interrupted Mr. Chapman impatiently. "Can't you just answer a question without a prefix of something about 'duly'?"

Capt. Daniels plausibly identified the section of the bylaws wherein it was shown to be the duty of the cashier to keep full records of the bank; to act as custodian of the funds, supervise business and, in fact, to have full swing.

"Read the next section," growled Mr. Chapman.

This section laid it down as the duty of Capt. Daniels as president of the bank to have "duly" signed the minutes after each meeting of the directors.

There was a painful pause.

When it came to the cross-examination, Mr. Chapman sauntered out to the front and center and jammed his hands in the pockets of his long coat in a mild manner.

CONFESSIONS OF CONGRESSMAN.
"When were you elected to Congress?"

"In the fall of 1902."

"Did you take an active part in the political campaign in your behalf?"

"I think he did."

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The proceedings for the pavement of Washington street are invalidated. The two factions in the Friendship Baptist church at Pasadena are in the throes of another legal contest. The case started yesterday in Judge Allen's court. A. Weber has sued H. P. Ernst for money, claiming the defendant sent him on a wild goose chase. Ex-Congressman Daniels was on the stand in the Tom Hays trial.

PUBLIC ADVERTISING-TWO TODAY.

(1) Notice inviting proposals for construction of proposed storm sewer in Sixth street. (2) Notice of the filing of the assessment for the opening of Trinity street. (3) Notice inviting proposals for furnishing supplies for various departments of the city. (4) Ordinance establishing the curb lines on a portion of Hoover street.

AT THE CITY HALL.

HALT CALLED ON BIG PROJECT.

FLAW FOUND IN WASHINGTON STREET PROCEEDINGS.

City Attorney Will Reemond That Work Be Stopped on One of the Most Important New Paving Enterprises—Result May Be Death of Undertaking.

It is stated on good authority that the City Attorney at the council meeting Monday will advise that all proceedings for the paving of Washington street be abandoned and that new proceedings be started.

It appears that the attorney has unearthed technicality that it is feared would invalidate the bonds should the work be carried out as now planned.

The job is one of the biggest that has been undertaken for some time and will represent thousands of dollars, considerable for a city of this size.

The project was championed by the Washington Street Improvement Association. It has, however, not passed along without opposition from the property owners in the district affected by the proposed improvement.

Time provided by law for the filing of protests certain property owners, who have been included in the assessment district, to object to the plan of improvement, by strenuous work succeeded in getting up a large protest against the work.

They however did not secure quite enough frontage to compel the council to abandon the work. This they say was owing to the short time allowed to get their protests signed up.

Friends of the project fear that now the proceedings are to be opened again and that the city will be forced to pay for the work.

In this case the Council will have no alternative but to accept the protest. It will then be six months before another petition for the paving of the street can be legally filed.

Feeling the investigation the proceedings have already been held up many weeks.

If the recommendation of the City Attorney is adopted, and it doubtless will be, it will be six months at the very least before work can be commenced on the thoroughfare owing to the provisions of the State law under which the work is to be done.

Both from a standpoint of sanitation and convenience the proposed improvement is a most important one for the entire southwestern part of the city, as Washington street is not only one of the most important arteries of traffic of this section but by nature it carries a vast amount of traffic in trucks.

In its present condition every rain washes the street badly, making travel almost impossible and requiring an almost endless amount of work to keep it in repair.

It is expected that a discussion of this project will be one of the features of the Council session Monday.

Representatives of both factions have signified their intention to be present to fight the matter out in open session of the Council. Those opposed to the improvement will endeavor to have the Council abandon the proceedings for paving the street.

Those in favor of the improvement will urge that the city fathers rush the work on the enterprise with all possible speed.

SPEED ORDINANCE.

FOR RED DEVIL.

A new speed ordinance for automobiles was a subject discussed by the Legislative Committee at its meeting yesterday.

Aroused by the recent horrible accidents from the reckless driving of machines the committee has resolved that some change in the existing law is imperative. It is probable that definite action will be taken at the meeting of the Council Monday.

The ordinance in force at the present time provides that machines shall not run at a greater rate of speed than twelve miles an hour in the business districts.

In the residence section the chauffeur is left to his own conclusions as to the rate at which he can run with safety to the inhabitants thereof.

Petitions have been pouring in asking that some action be taken to safeguard the people who may be forced to trespass upon the streets of the city.

The committee favors the passage of an ordinance fixing the limit in the business districts at eight miles per hour, with four miles an hour at cross-roads. Twelve miles an hour is fixed as the limit in the residence districts.

The committee recognizes the need of taking the matter in hand at once and an ordinance along these lines is looked for at the next Council meeting.

KING'S HORSE A LOSER

Moifa's Jockey Was Kicked and Cannot Rise.

Kirkland Wins Grand National Steeplechase.

Berkeley Oarsmen to Seattle Rifleman's Match.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—AM.

LIVERPOOL, March 31.—(By Atlantic Cable.) Kirkland won the Grand National steeplechase of 2500 sovereigns today. Napierdram was second and Buckaway II was third. Twenty-seven horses started.

The result of the Grand National is a complete surprise to all calculations. King Edward's new purchase, Moifa, was generally regarded as an almost certain winner, but his jockey, this morning was kicked, and was unable to rise, possibly accounting for the defeat of the favorite.

The King was present with a large party to see the race. Gollan's horse, the American sportsman, "Mr. Cotton," ran, but was not placed.

ATZ SWATS, GAME GONE.

Shortstop's Homer in Ninth Noses Out Lookers.

Toren Pitches Well but is Given Little Help.

Smith Makes a Hit and is Declared Out On It.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—AM.

PORTLAND, 2, Los Angeles. Over bleachers and stand stole an air of expectancy—twas the ninth and the score stood tied.

One sturdy white-sox swatman had already gone by the board, and Portland's chances centered in the stocky shortstop, Jake Atz. He didn't look dangerous, and Pitcher Toren stuck a straight, fast one over the middle.

Something happened. There was a vision of a whirling cloud of blue punctuated by flashes of white; a sound as of a falling wall. Jimmy Toren declares he heard a whizzing noise such as a spent cannonball might make, and Bernard, the center fielder, without pausing, started for the fence on the run. He had heard that bat crack before and knew what it meant.

For once the stick didn't sound like punk when it connected with Toren's offerings. High up over left center, soaring like a scared bird, the poor, belabored ball sped safe on its way, and Bernard, hands against the boards, could only listen for it to drop. Somewhere on top of the Chutes howling alley there is a dent as of a falling star, and Jake Atz might be able to tell why.

A cleaner "homer" never was hit, and, slightly broke up a game that, until then, had been a close one. With Toren pitching in championship form and the score two to nothing in his favor, Dillon's men went to pieces.

A great time and let the visitors go a start, when after McCreedie had beaten a rather nasty bounder to short, Dillon and Cravath both crossed their feet on a drive to right from Schlaty's bat. Big Mac sprinted home without a doubt.

The time-honored "umpire gag"—lost because we were robbed, etc., is now respectable only by virtue of its novelty, but for old sake's sake, it must have another meaning. In this particular case, the umpire's decision by "Bull" Perrine in the eighth, the locals probably have clinched the game then and there.

The gentleman in blue who wields the indicator had the brass-bound, copper-plated nerve to call Jed Smith out at first for not touching the bag on a clean drive to right field, which is a hit. But late this week one of the lady participants decided that it would be inconvenient for her to go to the beach today so the Central courts will get the game.

The programme today will consist of three matches of mixed doubles. The first one will be between Miss Gorman and Florence Sutton in one team and May Sutton and A. C. Way on the other. The winner of this match will play Shinnabach and Violet Sutton for the championship of the winter tourney, no other particular honors going to the victors.

The Granada Club of Alhambra is scheduled to play a round robin tourney this afternoon on the club courts at Alhambra. Among those who will take part are Claude Wayne, Gail Borden, Margaret Halstead, Gabrielle Dobbin, W. Wallace and Dr. Reynolds.

LACROSSE.
The Shellmound and Crescent teams of this city will play a match this afternoon at Fiesta Park beginning at 2:30 o'clock. This is the first of a series of games to be played during the next two months.

BERKELEY, March 31.—When the University of California oarsmen go to Seattle to row their return race with the University of Washington in May there will go with them ten of the best trackmen from Berkeley to meet the track team of the northern university in a dual meet at the same time.

The Executive Committee of the Associated Students of the University of California has accepted the challenge sent by the Washington athletes, and James Francis of Pittsburg will be the double contest on cinder path and water will be held.

JOHNSON LOOKS FOR MATCHES.
SAYS HE HURT HIS HANDS.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Both Marvin Hart and Jack Johnson are now on their way East. Johnson left for Philadelphia last night, and Hart for his home in Kentucky today. The latter was accompanied by his trainer and manager, and James Francis of Pittsburg.

Jack Johnson, the big left fielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, is battling like a fiend thus far. Yesterday's contribution was a brace of double baggers and a sacrifice.

Rose, who is in hard luck. Nearly every time at bat he drives one to the right-field bleachers a few feet foul. Yesterday he was caught out on a terrific liner squarely into Van Fleet's hands. Spies suffered the same fate a few innings later.

FOUR RACES OF THE SIX CAPTURED BY Public Pools—Card Offered Only a Fair One—Four Paddock Specials Finish in the Ruck—Final Races to be Run Today.

Contrary to expectations there were no long-shot get-away winners at Ascot yesterday and precedents were smashed to pieces with the victory of four winning favorites out of six. National business was a short time, and the bad trying to make winners of outsiders that had no chance, but the usual bunch of wise sports cashed on several victories. The day was cool and windy and a fair sized crowd was in attendance, but there were no particular features to warm the chilled blood of the spectators.

The customary false alarm turned up in the third race, when a strong, though heavily played, from 10 to 1 to 1, he showed no more speed than a cow. Miss May Bodwish was the same kind of a fake in the first race, for with the dub jockey, Hogg, on her she never better than seventh in the race. Borghesi was another bad one in the third race. Position in the fifth and Matt Gentry in the last, and of all these Gentry proved the biggest dump.

Sanctuary was a long shot, but he played on his Morality. "The horse off bad" and he "never could get through," after running six furlongs in 1:14 last week and winning in a canter in 1:08 last week.

Asclina had her old-time speed in the fourth race and simply ran away from her field when the time came, nothing behind her being able to cause her any trouble. Sandstorm, trained by E. R. Tomlinson (Trinity Hall, Cambridge), with M. T. in.

FRUIT DOCTOR SAVES ORANGES.

Pomologist Powell Gets Results of Big Value.

Government Expert Corrects Faults in Handling.

Heavy Gains to Industry Expected to Follow.

Orange growers of Los Angeles and surrounding counties are watching with interest the experiments by G. Harlow Powell, government expert, who is making an exhaustive inquiry into the keeping and shipping qualities of citrus fruits. His report to the government is expected to be of great value to the citrus industry in fact, he already has made recommendations that have saved much to the ranchers.

Mr. Powell, who is pomologist in charge of fruit storage investigations, United States Department of Agriculture, was in Whittier yesterday, and in the course of his investigation has made a pretty thorough canvass of Southern California.

The work thus far done by the investigator promises to be of as great value to citrus fruit growers as it has been to the government. Experiments in corn and wheat culture to the farmers of Iowa, Minnesota and other States.

Important discoveries have been made by Mr. Powell, through which it is expected that many thousands of dollars will be saved yearly to the growers. The amount may reach into hundreds of thousands.

With his work only partially done, he has made recommendations in the packing and shipping of the fruit that probably mean to the growers the difference between profit and loss.

CURED APPLE ILLS.

The pomologist now here went into Illinois when the farmers of that State were converting their apple orchards into pear orchards because of a decay that had attacked the fruit and rendered the industry unprofitable. Mr. Powell got at the core of the difficulty and there is a revival of apple-growing in Illinois.

Similar results followed his investigation into the handling of peaches in Connecticut. Through improvements in culture and handling, the size of the crop was increased, the quality improved and the returns soared upward.

The Department of Agriculture sent Mr. Powell into Southern California about the first of January at the suggestion of men who had the interests of the industry at heart and who sought a means of preventing the enormous loss suffered through the decay of fruit before it reached the eastern market. A conservative estimate places the loss at about $500,000 a year, or 5 per cent of the total value of a season's crop, which is placed at $10,000,000.

Daily reports received by telegraph from the orange markets indicate that this decay amounts to about 15 per cent in shipments received one day, while a 25 per cent decay is frequent and probably below the average this year.

Mr. Powell has worked without any bias of trumpets. He has gone into the orchards, the packing-houses and the cold-storage plants, and he has conferred with growers, pickers, packers and railroad officials, with the one idea of learning every condition connected with the industry.

The first conclusion reached by Mr. Powell was that decay is caused by one of three things—temperature, moisture and bruising—or to a combination of two or more of these.

DAMAGE BY PICKING.

Pursuing his inquiry on this line, he made the important discovery that an average of 15 per cent of the oranges picked in the orchards he had visited were damaged through carelessness in picking—that, in fact, practically one out of every five was rendered most liable to decay.

In some instances, the damage ran as high as 25 per cent from this one source.

The particular fault was found to lie with the pickers, who in their haste slightly bruised the skin of the fruit with their clipper. However slight the bruise, the investigator said it opened the way for decay in shipment.

To demonstrate the value of the suggestion an inspection was made of the methods used by a grower who was known to have most excellent results in the marketing of his fruit. It was found that only 4 per cent of his product was damaged by the clipper.

With such an example as a guide, the growers in some orchards urged caution on their pickers and immediate improvement was made.

There was objection from some quarters on the score of expense. Orchardists declared that the cost of carefulness in picking would outweigh any benefit that might be derived from a better condition of the fruit.

GAIN, NOT LOSS.

Just to show the fallacy of this claim, Mr. Powell demonstrated that it cost just one-quarter of a cent more to pick a box of oranges without injuring one than to harvest the same number in haste, to the injury of dozens, while it is pretty well known that the perfect oranges would command from twenty-five cents to $1 more per box—a rich return on the investment.

In his demonstrations to the ranchers and other interested persons who have accompanied him, Mr. Powell has shown that the decay attacks oranges wherever the skin has been torn or bruised.

It was shown that an orange with an unbruised skin would simply dry up after being packed, provided conditions as to temperature and moisture were suitable. Attention was called to hundreds of bushels of "culls" dumped on piles, which had dried into round, hard balls and which are used by many persons as fuel.

Going still further, Mr. Powell investigated the handling of the fruit in packing-houses. To determine whether bruising of oranges is beneficial or otherwise, he had some fruit packed without bruising, others with only a little, and still more thoroughly cracked in this manner.

WIDE RANGE OF TESTS.

Carloads of oranges, some bruised, some perfect, some bruised, others unbruised, and with every particular noted, have been sent to market and from each will be received detailed statements as to the condition of the fruit, factors which will determine much for the experimenter.

Other carloads have been sent to cold-storage houses in Los Angeles, conditions followed as closely as possible. It is expected to determine just when they are to be loaded with fruit or some time afterward.

There are but a few of the many lines that are being followed by the visiting pomologist. There are others of equal

Importance that probably will not be known until he makes his final report. Growers are enthusiastic, however, over the results already promised and they expect that, not only will the quality of the fruit be improved, but the price received by the grower and the market broadened to at least $5,000 cars per year.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.
Symphony Concert.
A good-sized audience attended yesterday afternoon's symphony concert, and the programme, though embracing no extraordinary features, was of sustained merit and pleasurable variety.

The feature of the afternoon was the presentation of Mozart's symphony in G minor, a work of melancholy power, reflective of anything save the usual mood of this composer. Indeed, it may be said that the strength of this symphony is derived almost solely from the strange sadness which seems to pervade it.

Harry Clifford Lott, whose baritone voice and style of singing are familiar to patrons of the arts of this city, was the soloist, giving an artistic rendition of Quasimodo's recitative and air, from "Emmeralda."

Other numbers of the programme were a reverie by C. E. Pemberton, dedicated to Mr. Hamilton, and Swensen's "Romeo and Juliet" fantasia.

Kreisel's Last.
Fritz Kreisel, the young Austrian wizard of the violin, gave his concluding concert last evening at Simpson Auditorium before a good-sized audience.

As before, magnificent performance in surmounting of technical difficulties, exquisite poise, warmth, and feeling, and enthusiastic applause.

Ellery's French Concert.
Tonight's concert at Chutes Theater by the Ellery band will be the last one of importance, as this evening's aggregation under Ferullo's direction will devote itself exclusively to the compositions of French masters, giving many interpretations which will doubtless be of decided interest. Among these are large transcriptions from Gounod's "Faust," before played by the band in such completeness here.

Decimo, preeminent master of the clarinet, will make his first appearance here for the season, playing a number of solo parts.

TWO INVESTMENTS.
D. F. Dillman has sold to a local investor, through the agency of W. B. Merwin, 45x150 feet, on the northeast corner of Main and Twelfth streets, unimproved; consideration named $25,000. J. H. Finney buys of H. Everest, through the agencies of R. A. Rowan & Co. and W. B. Merwin, 50x150 feet on the west side of Gladys avenue, about fifty feet north of Fifth street; consideration named $15,000.

Rule for Eating.
Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia tells a story of a friend whose stoutness and constant good humor are his chief distinctions. "We happened to be talking on the subject of gastronomy," said the Mayor, "and somehow my friend's tremendous girth prompted me to ask him if he followed any set rules in his eating. 'I have just one rule,' he replied, 'and it's a winner. When I sit down to eat I sit six inches or so from the table and when I touch I'm done.'—New York World.

The Deeds Passed Yesterday Closing Deal.

State Sunday-school Folks' Convention.

World-famous Preacher is Soon Coming.

The Methodist Chautauqua will go to Huntington Beach.

There was a strong sentiment in favor of the acceptance of a ten-acre tract of woodland at Huntington Park.

The accepted property consists of four blocks near the center of the village of Huntington Beach.

Under this language the choice of the committee is final, and further, before the conference meets temporary buildings will have been erected.

The accepted property consists of four blocks near the center of the village of Huntington Beach.

It is the design of the committee, which is practically the same as the officers of the Long Beach Resort Association.

A large auditorium will be built in the most substantial manner for the holding of the annual camp meeting.

The comprehensive scheme includes the establishing of a tent city, laying out of extensive pleasure grounds.

the premier Baron of Ireland, to wear his hat in the King's presence.

"Yes," the Knickerbocker ended, "Many strange hereditary rights exist, but the strangest of them all is undoubtedly that of wearing the Spanish King's old clothes."

The Old Times--the old London Times--was a great paper in the past, said a journalist.

"The red meats, beef and mutton, are strong. They are not delicate like chicken and veal."

"The butter was undeniably blue--as blue as the sky on a sunny day."

"It is from India," said the dairymaid, "It's made from the milk of the native Indian cow."

"He salted the stuff well, and so it reached me in good shape. Taste it. It's a nut, isn't it? It is not so pretty, though, as our rich yellow butter."

There is in Philadelphia a park guard who collects beetles. For some ten years he has been collecting beetles of all colors and shapes.

For the women's club, Mrs. Jefferson Gibson planted a palm tree, and Mrs. Joseph E. Coleman made a touching speech in planting a pine tree for the Stanton Relief Corps.

Two trees were planted by J. M. Quinn of the Board of Education for the pioneers of Los Angeles county.

One of the touching incidents of the day in which Mayor McAleer and others were particularly interested was the planting of an acacia in memory of Mrs. William J. Hill.
